

Elizabeth and Charles

Where are you going, Elizabeth my love?
Where are you going, my beautiful young wife?
I am going to a banquet; I will not come back home tonight,
Because I want to have fun until the sunlight.

Who are you going with, Elizabeth my love?
Who are you going with, my beautiful young wife?
I am going with my sister; I will not come back home tonight,
Because I want to have fun until the sunlight.

Your sister is ill, Elizabeth my love
Your sister is ill, my beautiful young wife
She has recovered; I will not come back home tonight,
Because I want to have fun until the sunlight.

You are lying to me, Elizabeth my love
You are lying to me, my beautiful young wife
Do not accuse me Charles; I will not come back home tonight,
Because I want to have fun until the sunlight.

Why do you want to leave me, Elizabeth my love?
Why do you want to leave me, my beautiful young wife?
Because I fell in love with another man; I will not come back home tonight,
Because I want to have fun until the sunlight.

Oh! I am having a heart-attack, Elizabeth my love
Oh! I am having a heart-attack, my beautiful young wife
Please! Do not die; let me feel your breath,
Because I do not want to be accused of your death.

I want to tell you something, Elizabeth my love
I want to tell you something, my beautiful young wife
It is too late to talk; let me feel your breath,
Because I do not want to be accused of your death.

I will always love you, Elizabeth my love
I will always love you, my beautiful young wife
I am sorry, I must escape; let me feel your breath,
Because I do not want to be accused of your death.
